Permanent, full-time Class teacher position

School: Candlenut Steiner School, Kuranda QLD Australia
Closing Date; September 30th 2009

Candlenut is seeking a dedicated, enthusiastic, creative, caring and experienced class teacher with a strong commitment and enthusiasm for Steiner Education; a teacher who can commence Class 1 in 2010 and continue the journey of education throughout primary school to the end of Class 7. Ideally, we would like someone who has Steiner teacher training and class room experience in a Steiner school and who is committed to working as part of a dynamic team, dedicated to high standards in teaching and professional development. We would like the successful applicant to be able to spend time in both classrooms and prep room towards the end of this year to become familiar with the children and the school. This is an exciting opportunity for someone to join us in our striving for quality in the education of children.

This is a permanent, full-time position. Applicants must have QCT teacher Registration.

Candlenut Steiner School opened as Cairns Rudolf Steiner School in 2002 with 25 children accommodated in a small house in Stratford. Our 40 acre bush property in Kuranda, a beautiful, tranquil place traversed by walking tracks and seasonal creeks, with a 10 minute walk to the lovely Barron River, was purchased six years later, as a permanent school site. After our move to our permanent site in 2008, the school was renamed Candlenut Steiner School, and at present enrolments are around 110 students. The candlenut tree is a native bush tucker tree found in the area and, in its simplest form, means 'seed of light', symbolizing enlightenment, peace and protection. The school offers kindergarten and preschool through to class 7, with intention to commence secondary school in 2011.

Cairns is a friendly multicultural tropical city of around 120000 residents in Far North Queensland, Australia . It attracts people from all over the world, and is flanked by the sea, with the world famous Great Barrier Reef, and world heritage rainforest. The picturesque mountain retreat of Kuranda Village, 25km northwest of Cairns, is a small, very beautiful tropical village hidden amongst the rainforest. Set against a mountain backdrop and on the banks of the Barron River, Kuranda is both a very beautiful place for our school, and a place to live.
